About the Author Myan Soffia is an East Coast transplant finding her way around Los Angeles. While living in downtown L.A., she realized she wanted to document the city as she saw it... magical, vibrant, and full of life. Myan had always been interested in photography but had never seriously pursued it. She used to spend her days as a television graphic designer and then a television promotions producer, she thought her life would certainly take a different path. Myan is so grateful that her work can be seen in books, magazines, and private collections around the world. And is truly honored her prints have also found homes as set decor on ABC's Modern Family, HBO's Enlightened and FX's Anger Management. Myan's photography is also featured inside Lana Del Rey's CD cover ULTRAVIOLENCE. www.myansoffia.com
