Tales of a senior backpacker's gap year journeying around the world with her husband in tow

About the Author In my daydreaming years, life had promised me an adventure and it was long overdue. I grew up listening to my fathers fabulous tales about his adventures of sailing to South America and Africa with the Merchant Navy. Exotic names like Montevideo and Buenos Aires still scratched away at the adventurer in my soul. The quiet whisper no longer quelled by the insistent voices of demanding offspring rose to a crescendo and demanded attention. And so on the 27th March 2004 my husband and I, to the astonishment of our adult children, donned our rucksacks and in the words of the ancient Chinese proverb, took the single step which was to start our journey of over 45,000 miles. Lucia Bradford was born in Lancashire, England in 1949. She has two children and two grandchildren, and lives in Hertfordshire, England.
