By Scott K. Walker
I purchased this map for a hike to Little Schloss, which I recommend. We got both this map and a PATC map for part of the same area. This map shows much more area than the PATC map, so the PATC map showed the area we were hiking in more clearly.

I love the National Geo trail maps. They hold up under tough trail conditions and have great details. This is the map you want if you plan on hiking the George Washington National Forest west of Shenandoah National Park. It gives enough of Shenandoah park so you can orient yourself and then shows all the trails in the GW National Forest. Great map!

Waterproof Tear-Resistant Topographic Map
The Lee Ranger District is the northernmost portion of the George Washington National Forest. Only a two-hour drive from Washington, D.C., this area includes portions of the Massanutten and Great North Mountain ranges separated by the historic Shenandoah Valley. Expertly researched and created in partnership with local land management agencies, National Geographic's Trails Illustrated map of Massanutten and Great North Mountain provides an unparalleled tool for making the most of your visit to this scenic region. Key areas of interest featured on this map include Lost River State Park; Raymond R. "Andy" Guest Jr. Shenandoah River State Park; Harrisonburg; Luray; Woodstock; and a portion of Shenandoah National Park. Designed with a wide range of visitors in mind, this map features an extensive trail chart showing mileage, difficulty rating, blaze, and suitable trail use; a handy activity guide for George Washington National Forest; parking areas suitable for horse trailers; and important trail information. With miles of mapped trails including Massanutten National Recreation Trail and portions of the Appalachian and Tuscarora trails, this map can guide you off the beaten path and back again in some of the most breathtaking scenery in the region. River mileage on a significant portion of the Shenandoah River is noted for those exploring by boat. Recreation features are clearly marked, including campgrounds, trailheads, boat launches, fishing access, swimming areas, and points of interest. The map base includes contour lines and elevations for summits and passes.
Every Trails Illustrated map is printed on "Backcountry Tough" waterproof, tear-resistant paper. A full UTM grid is printed on the map to aid with GPS navigation.
Other features found on this map include: Cove Mountain, George Washington National Forest, Great North Mountain, Massanutten Mountain, Shenandoah, Shenandoah Mountain.
