Joshua Berman : Moon Belize (Moon Handbooks) before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Moon Belize (Moon Handbooks):

I used it to find culturally interesting things to do in Belize that were off the beaten path and ended up being highlights of my trip.0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Not very useful, hard to useBy HillaryI bought this guide to Belize because it was the most recent guidebook available. There is no useful information regarding buses or timetables. The books is formatted in paragraph form, which makes it difficult to consult quickly. Hotels and restaurants often do not have a price range for reference. Maps are not great. It is an ok guidebook for a general overview of Belize, but it's not very helpful on the road. I'll stick with Lonely Planet.0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Just the right sizeBy BookcaseLauraI traveled to Belize at the end of February, 2012. This book was very helpful in planning the trip and giving us suggestions once we got there. A good amount of variety to the recommendations for food, and we agreed with pretty much everything that was said about the places we ended up choosing. We used it mostly for activity and food, having booked our lodging ahead of time. Some nice pictures, but more would be better. I loved the small size so it easily fit in any bag to carry along with us if we should need it. 3.5/5 stars.

Writer and former Belize resident Joshua Berman knows the best ways to experience Belize from hiking the waterfall at Lubaantun to riding horseback to El Pilar. Berman offers a range of interesting activities for every traveler, such as visiting Monkey River, bird watching in the wetlands, and reserving a barstool at the Lazy Lizard at sunset as well as unique trip ideas like Surf and Turf and Diving in Belize. Packed with information on dining, transportation, and accommodations, Moon Belize gives travelers the tools they need to create a more personal and memorable experience.

Still closely remembering my own experiences in Belize, I can definitely attest to the fact that this book is a very complete and useful guide to all that the small country of Belize has to offer. Berman considers activities covering a variety of interests, budgets and ages, which makes the Moon Handbooks Belize a great companion for almost any traveler. You will find in-depth information about nature reserves, national parks, ecotourism, wildlife sanctuaries, and community tourism, as well as Mayan archeological sites, diving, snorkeling, nightlife, and entertainment... The book is well organized using tabs which allow the reader to quickly locate any of the seven regions described in the book. As all Moon Handbooks, the Belize guide also has a useful section with practical information located at the end of the book. The "Background" section provides information about the history and culture of Belize and its people, and the "Essentials" section offers useful information about practical travel matters. -- Tazine, July 2008

About the Author Joshua Berman has been traveling, living, teaching, and leading trips in Central America since 1998, the year the Peace Corps sent him to Nicaragua as an education volunteer. He has taken students to Guatemala and El Salvador, guided film crews into caves in Belize, and shared some truly bizarre foods with Travel Channel host Andrew Zimmern in Belize and Nicaragua. His favorite place to be in Belize is in a canoe on the Macal River, preferably at dawn and surrounded by toucans and howler monkeys. Joshua is a freelance writer, Spanish teacher, and television production fixer who bounces between Colorado and Latin America. He is a proud alumnus of Brown University, AmeriCorps, Outward Bound, and the Whiskeytown Fire Use Module. In addition to Moon Belize, Joshua is the author of Moon Maya 2012: A Guide to Celebrations in Mexico, Guatemala, Belize Honduras and the coauthor of Moon Nicaragua and Moon Living Abroad in Nicaragua. His work has appeared in The New York Times, Yoga Journal, Outside Traveler, 5280, Sunset, National Geographic Traveler, The Boston Globe, Worldview, and Mountain Gazette.
