Erin Van Rheenen : Moon Living Abroad in Costa Rica before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Moon Living Abroad in Costa Rica:

5 of 5 people found the following review helpful. very helpfulBy costa rica babyThis book has been our go to book for the last few months. we have not moved yet but will be in a few weeks. Lots and lots of helpful tips on preparing to move even some on our pet dog. I am sure that we will be using this book when we get there as well. I have bought a few books on the subject and this by far is the best one. Ps We are a family moving with a dog and a six month old. This book helped with everything so far. 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. A key addition in making my retirement decisions. By Christy M. For one considering moving to Costa Rica (aka CR) for retirement, this book is chock-a-block full of all of the info that you'll need; from the mores of the country, the lifestyle, weather, cost of living.... Now all I have to do is to retire and pack my bags. 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Should Read By The Force Very knowledgeable written book, it's truly a paperback book, it spells out what I believe you may want to know, Could of use a bot more on areas to visit for Ex-Pats other than the basics, realizing not ever ware is completely safe for everyone. I enjoyed and recommend especially if you're heading to CR, definitely use as a reference guild

Erin Van Rheenen has made the move to Costa Rica herself, and in Moon Living Abroad Costa Rica, she uses her know-how to provide insight and firsthand advice on navigating the language and culture of this beautiful country. Erin outlines all the information you need including how to obtain visas, arrange finances, set up your daily life, gain employment, and choose schools in a smart, organized, and straightforward manner, making planning the move abroad manageable. The guide also includes practical advice for a variety of needs and budgets on how to rent or buy a home, whether it's a condo in the San Jos suburb of Escaz, a wooden house in coastal Tortuguero, or a mountain retreat with a view of Arenal Volcano. With color and black-and-white photos, illustrations, and maps to help you find your bearings, Moon Living Abroad Costa Rica makes the transition process easy for tourists, business people, adventurers, students, teachers, professionals, families, couples, and retirees looking to relocate.

About the Author When Erin Van Rheenen was three years old, her parents moved the family from their native Oregon to Nigeria for a two-year Peace Corps stint. Since then Erin has been fortunate to live outside the U.S. for extended periods of time in Ireland, Ecuador, Mexico, and Guatemala. She answered Costa Rica's call in 2002 and found a second home where she could put down roots. Currently, she spends time in both California and Costa Rica. Erin earned a B.A. in Latin American literature from the University of California at Santa Cruz and a masters in fiction writing and English literature from the City University of New York. She has published essays and stories, won the Pirate's Alley Faulkner Society prize for best new novel, and taught writing at City College of New York and in the San Francisco County Jail.
